For more than 45 years, DEVELOPMENT AND PEACE has been working to transform lives in the Global South. As the official international development organization of the Catholic Church in Canada, DEVELOPMENT AND PEACE works in partnership with local organizations in Africa, Asia, Latin America and the Middle East to create greater justice in the world and to act in solidarity with the most vulnerable. In Canada, we raise awareness about the root causes of poverty and injustice in the developing world and mobilize Canadians to act for social change. DEVELOPMENT AND PEACE is also the Canadian member of Caritas Internationalis, an international confederation of Catholic humanitarian and development agencies, and one of the largest humanitarian aid networks in the world.

TRANSPARENCY

This annual report is part of our commitment to transparency and accountability to our donors and supporters. In it, we present the results we achieved throughout the year in fulfilling our mission. You can consult our website at devp.org/annualreport for additional information and details.
MESSAGE FROM OUR PRESIDENT AND EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

The last year brought many changes for Development and Peace. Here in Canada, we consolidated our education, communications and fundraising programs into one department. This will enable us to create stronger and more articulated campaigns, to better support our membership, and to create a greater synergy with our donors and supporters across the country.

We also saw the integration of the Canadian International Development Agency, a government partner that we had been working with since 1968, into the Department of Foreign Affairs, Trade and Development. As we have continued to adjust to ongoing changes in the Canadian government’s policies on foreign aid, we have not changed our own resolve to contribute to a society where all human beings can live a dignified life, where care for creation is respected and where justice, equality and solidarity become an integral part of the social fabric.

As the world becomes increasingly smaller through ever-changing technological advances, we are now more than ever a global community where every man, woman and child is our neighbour. It means that we must all make changes if we are to live in a world whose heart beats as one.

This has been the very essence of the message of our first Pope from the “new world,” Pope Francis. Not long after being elected Pontiff, Pope Francis quickly prioritized the plight of the poor for the Church - and all of society - challenging leaders and individuals to replace the drive for profit, which all too often comes at the expense of those who will benefit the least, with love and compassion.

"Among our tasks as witnesses to the love of Christ is that of giving a voice to the cry of the poor, so that they are not abandoned to the laws of an economy that seems at times to treat people as mere consumers," he proclaimed.

At Development and Peace, we are up to the task! We choose to embrace change as an opportunity for transformation, and we hope you will join us in this powerful global movement.

HIGHLIGHTS OF 2012-2013

The past year was marked by the many activities here in Canada and around the world that we carried out as part of our mission to strengthen solidarity between Canadians and their brothers and sisters in the Global South, and to address the root causes of poverty.

MAY / MEETING THE NEW POPE: Michael Casey, Executive Director of DEVELOPMENT AND PEACE and President of Caritas Internationalis for North America, participates in a meeting at the Vatican, organized between Pope Francis and the directors of the Caritas Internationalis network. / CANADIAN AID: The president of DEVELOPMENT AND PEACE, Mr. Pat Kennedy, participates in a meeting between the Minister of International Cooperation, the Honourable Julian Fantino, and the CCCB, represented by Most Rev. Richard Smith, President of the CCCB, Most Rev. Paul-André Durocher, Vice-President of the CCCB, and Msgr. Pat Powers, Secretary General of the CCCB, to ensure that poverty eradication remains the central focus of Canadian aid policies.

OCTOBER / SAHEL: DEVELOPMENT AND PEACE announces that it has raised $1.8 million for aid in the Sahel region of West Africa, which is suffering a food crisis due to drought. This amount is eligible to be matched by the Canadian government for its Sahel Crisis Fund.

NOVEMBER / CALL TO PEACE: DEVELOPMENT AND PEACE, along with other civil society organizations, calls on the Canadian government to demand an immediate ceasefire in the Democratic Republic of the Congo and to provide humanitarian aid for the thousands who have been terrorized and displaced.

DECEMBER / ADVOCACY: Concerned over changes to Canada’s international aid policies that seek to benefit Canadian economic interests, DEVELOPMENT AND PEACE sends a letter to the Minister of International Cooperation to ask that the most poor and vulnerable remain the primary focus of Canadian foreign aid.

JUNE / CAMPAIGN FOR SYRIA: In response to the ever-worsening crisis in Syria, DEVELOPMENT AND PEACE and the CCCB launch a joint campaign to raise funds for humanitarian aid for Syrian refugees. / DEFENDING HUMAN RIGHTS: Concerned about allegations of espionage in Brazil by a local mining company, including of human rights workers, DEVELOPMENT AND PEACE and other civil society organizations send a letter to the President of Brazil, Dilma Roussef, requesting an in-depth and transparent inquiry into these alleged acts.

FEBRUARY / RECONSTRUCTION: Three years after the earthquake that devastated Haiti, DEVELOPMENT AND PEACE inaugurates the first 50 houses in its housing reconstruction project, which will eventually result in 400 homes in an area that was at the epicenter of the earthquake.

MARCH / WOMEN: On International Women’s Day, DEVELOPMENT AND PEACE and MiningWatch Canada send a letter to the women of the Siria Valley in Honduras, expressing support for their struggle to oppose a new mining law and calling on their government to provide medical care for illnesses caused by a local mine.

AUGUST / VISIT TO ETHIOPIA: A delegation from DEVELOPMENT AND PEACE that includes among others, Most Rev. Terrence Prendergast, the Archbishop of Ottawa, Most Rev. Noël Simard, the Bishop of Valleyfield, Dick Mynen, National Council member for British Colombia and Michael Casey, Executive Director of Development and Peace, travels to Ethiopia to visit projects that are part of a long-term response to a food crisis that hit the country in 2011.
The role of Development and Peace in working with local communities is not simply that of a donor. There is also a close, long-lasting relationship and feeling of brotherhood and sisterhood that is established between the organization, its partners and the local populations. Together, they are tackling the issues that contribute to systemic poverty and injustice, so that all can benefit from the world’s wealth in a just and sustainable way.

Our six areas of intervention

PEACEBUILDING AND RECONCILIATION
We support people and organizations that are responding to the tragic consequences of armed conflict. They are engaged in peacebuilding initiatives that address the causes of violence, promote tolerance and propose ways to peacefully settle tensions, by encouraging the participation of all those involved in or affected by conflict.

CONTROL AND MANAGEMENT OF NATURAL RESOURCES
Most of the planet’s land, water and mineral resources are concentrated in the hands of a minority of individuals and corporations. We are supporting impoverished populations in defending their rights and their environments in the face of the uncontrolled exploitation of natural resources, as they are the ones who tend to suffer the most from the negative impacts.

DEMOCRACY AND CITIZEN PARTICIPATION
In many countries, citizens do not have space to take part in important debates on issues that directly concern them. This situation has led to economic, social and political exclusion. We are working from the grassroots up to promote and encourage citizen participation in decision-making processes at the local, regional and national levels.

ECOLOGICAL JUSTICE
Poor people in the Global South are particularly vulnerable to ecological changes that impact their daily lives. Often they do not have the capacity or resources to protect themselves against the devastating impacts of environmental damage and climate change, nor can they respond accordingly. We work in many countries in support of alternative sustainable development models that are environmentally safe, socially relevant and economically viable.

EQUALITY BETWEEN MEN AND WOMEN
Everywhere around the world, women are far more vulnerable to poverty and discrimination than men. Based on the fundamental dignity of every human being, we work with groups to ensure that everyone, both men and women, all have the same rights, the same access to goods, services and opportunities, and that their contribution to society is recognized and valued as equal.

HUMANITARIAN AID
In situations of natural disasters, armed conflict and other humanitarian crises, Development and Peace responds very quickly to support the most vulnerable without distinction. Moreover, our support goes beyond immediate humanitarian needs, and continues into the middle and long term in order to help local communities to become more resilient and empowered, and to rebuild in a sustainable way.
Africa

Democratic Republic of the Congo

A community radio project in Katanga has reached approximately 1.5 million individuals and now the local population is in the process of taking full ownership of the project. Today, more than 50% of the operating costs of the radio project are covered by local revenue.

Madagascar

The Taratra project has allowed local populations to achieve concrete results including payment of local taxes, local development projects initiated and managed by the communes, budget follow-up, etc. Strengthened by these successes, the Taratra project activities have spread to new dioceses. Furthermore, Congolese bishops were able to learn about and acquire some of the skills, expertise, and tools that were developed as part of the Taratra project on a visit to Madagascar.

Nigeria

A partner of Development and Peace sent a letter to the local World Bank representative in Nigeria to denounce forced evictions and to demand the respect of the basic rights of 9,000 residents who became homeless in the district of Badia East as a result of a World Bank-supported project. This pressure forced the Lagos State Government to agree to compensate victims under threat of a freeze in funding of different World Bank projects.

Sierra Leone

Thanks to awareness-raising activities and training sessions, communities living near mining sites have the necessary knowledge to defend their rights in meetings with the government and mining companies. In certain cases, there have been tangible results in terms of fair compensation.

Zambia

The Zambia Extractive Industries Project (ZEIP) raised awareness about mining exploitation among riverside communities who have been the victims of mining projects (displacement, loss of arable land, insufficient or unfair compensation). These communities are now better equipped to negotiate with the government and mining companies. They are gradually gaining ground and winning some victories.
ASIA

CAMBODIA

Four partner organizations of Development and Peace mobilized to denounce the use of police and judicial repression against disadvantaged people, monks and independent journalists who stated their opposition to the inhumane management of major land development projects as well as other mining, forestry, hydroelectric and highway projects.

LATIN AMERICA

HAITI

As part of our reconstruction program, 40 cooperative housing units have been built, in addition to an income-generating project to encourage poultry production and trading in the urban area of Croix-des-Bouquets, near Port-au-Prince.

HONDURAS

Through capacity-building workshops, 264 community leaders received training on Honduran laws, and on human rights, financial and environmental laws and conventions. These leaders used the knowledge and skills they acquired to bring forward 42 cases of land disputes, preventing several major projects from being carried out on their territory.

BOLIVIA

Bolivia became the fourth country to ratify the new international treaty on domestic workers. One of Development and Peace’s partners, a labour union for domestic workers, was instrumental in having this treaty, which will offer greater protection for these oft-abused and exploited workers, ratified.

COLOMBIA

Several biodiversity zones have been created allowing Afro-Colombian peasants to recover their land, which was violently and illegally taken away from them to produce palm oil.

PERU

Thanks to the work carried out by our partner, the regional government in Pasco passed a law requiring that records be kept of all the people who have been affected by a local open-pit mine (including displacements and high levels of heavy metals detected in blood samples). This is the first step for victims to demand fair compensation and medical treatment from the state and the mining company.
HOW OUR INTERNATIONAL PROGRAMS ARE MAKING A DIFFERENCE

PARAGUAY
Thanks to a policy that was put in place to support women in playing a leadership role, 50% of the national leaders of our partners in the peasant movement are now women.

THE MIDDLE EAST
AFGHANISTAN
Professional development was provided for trainers in civic education in rural areas in the provinces of Parwan and Kabul, as a way to advocate for increased participation of rural women in the political life of the country.

REGIONAL
A universal Arms Trade Treaty was ratified at the United Nations, in no small part due to years of efforts of civil society organizations, including a partner of DEVELOPMENT AND PEACE, who worked with Arab states to encourage them to vote in favour of this treaty, which will create international standards on the sale of arms.

HUMANITARIAN AID

BURKINA FASO
June 2012 marked the end of the first phase of our response to the food crisis in the country. Projects that were carried out reached over 350,000 people.

MALI
In addition to the food crisis of 2012, Mali experienced a violent political crisis that isolated parts of the country in the north. DEVELOPMENT AND PEACE contributed $283,909 to meet the needs of people deprived of basic sustenance.

PAKISTAN
DEVELOPMENT AND PEACE completed its program in response to massive flooding in 2010 that affected 20 million people. Reconstruction activities that helped people regain their livelihoods benefited over 100,000 people.

SYRIA
In Syria, eight projects were put in place by a local organization, allowing 16,000 people to benefit from food aid, rent assistance, medical assistance, clothing, heating and school supplies.

SHARE LENT 2013: HUMAN DIGNITY, MORE THAN EVER

The goal of our annual Share Lent campaign is to revive the spirit of Lent and to support our members in carrying out a variety of awareness-raising and fundraising activities in order to collect the funds required to fulfill our mission.

In 2013, we celebrated our 45th Share Lent campaign, featuring the slogan, Human Dignity, More than Ever, invoking the intrinsic dignity of all human beings. For the first time, we broadcast our national campaign launch on the Internet, live from Edmonton, presided by Most Rev. Richard Smith, President of the CCCB and Most Rev. Pedro Jimeno Barreto, Archbishop of Huancayo in Peru. Six solidarity visitors traveled to Canada to bear witness to the work being supported by Development and Peace in Afghanistan, Burkina Faso, Cambodia, Haiti, Peru, and the Democratic Republic of the Congo.

This year the Share Lent campaign raised $8.6 million. Our staff and members organized a variety of special activities in 23 dioceses, more than 276 people and 72 teams took part in a THINKfast fundraiser, collecting over $130,000, and Canadians were invited to participate in the Good Friday Fast to raise money online. The campaign culminated on Solidarity Sunday, when a special collection was held in all participating parishes across the country. Thanks to the generous support of our donors, Development and Peace will be able to continue to work with our partners to address the needs of disadvantaged communities, and allow them the dignity of being active participants in their own development.

A NEW LEAF: A FILM ABOUT THE FOOD CRISIS IN THE SAHEL

In the summer of 2012, the Sahel region of West Africa faced a major food crisis that put 18 million people in a state of food insecurity. At the height of the crisis, Development and Peace went to Niger, one of the most severely affected countries, with a film crew from Salt and Light Television to document the impact this had on the communities. The result was a 30-minute documentary entitled A New Leaf, which focuses on the complex causes leading up to the crisis, and shows how our solidarity is making a real difference. The documentary was premiered in February 2013 in Ottawa, Toronto, Winnipeg, Vancouver, and Victoria before airing on Salt and Light Television. Father Isidore Ouédraogo, Executive Secretary of OCADES – Caritas Burkina Faso, one of Development and Peace’s partners in the Sahel, also took part in the premieres as a special panelist to answer questions from guests after each screening.
ADDRESSING THE CAUSES OF GLOBAL POVERTY HERE IN CANADA

Throughout the year, Development and Peace addressed the issue of the changing political climate in Canadian international aid and development. As part of the International Development: Do it Justice campaign, we invited Canadians to reflect on the new direction of international aid, which now increasingly serves to promote Canada’s economic interests abroad rather than supporting poor populations on their path towards development. With this campaign, we also asked our members to share their concerns with their Members of Parliament. Many met with their MPs as part of a concerted effort to emphasize that Canadian international aid must focus on the needs of the poor and the most disadvantaged groups in the world, and to pursue sustainable alternatives in order to build sound economic, social and political structures.

YOUNG PEOPLE ARE GETTING INVOLVED!

Youth are not indifferent to the suffering in the world. At Development and Peace, we have a growing number of committed youth members who are already engaged in showing their solidarity!

Our popular and successful THINKFast program, a 25-hour fundraising and education fast done in schools and parishes, celebrated its 25th anniversary. This activity has helped thousands of youth become more aware of poverty issues and the need for change. This year we also launched a new school initiative: The Mustard Seed Campaign. This fundraising campaign, inspired by the mustard seed parable, was a two-dollar coin drive in Catholic schools to demonstrate how the collective power of many can make a difference.

Furthermore, 20 people between the ages of 18–35 went to Haiti, Bolivia and Rwanda as part of the Québec sans frontières program (Quebec Without Borders) which is organized in collaboration with the Quebec Ministry of International Relations, Francophonie and External Trade. Interns went overseas to support our partners in their work and to gain a meaningful experience in international solidarity.

With such engaged youth, we are hopeful for the future of international solidarity.
