Solidarity Jar

An important Lenten value is turning to our brothers and sisters to offer them our support. We call this almsgiving.

This Lent, why not make your own Solidarity Jar to bring Jesus's message of love to life?

Cut out this label and stick it on a recycled container. Then, ask friends, family and neighbours to drop money into this Solidarity Jar to support Development and Peace's mission of international solidarity.

This Easter, you can donate the money you collect to Development and Peace at devp.org/give!

Your donation in action

In Colombia, Development and Peace's partner, the Antioquia Peasants' Association (Asociación Campesina de Antioquia, ACA) works with young people from peasant communities who have endured over 50 years of war and violence. To foster a culture of peace, ACA provides multimedia training to young people, helping them promote peasant culture and biodiversity.

One of the trainees, Fabio, said,

"The audiovisual training encouraged us to stay in our community and to identify with it. It was a great experience because we developed a sense of belonging by telling our story and acting for the good of our community. This is why we continue and stay here."
